CAMPSITE

Granietkop Campsite has five private campsites, all tucked away in giant granite boulders. Great care has been taken to guarantee privacy at each campsite and each has its own private ablutions, including flush toilets and hot showers. A shaded preparation and washing up area is also provided along with solar lighting, as well as fireplace and raised braai. The size of the campsites varies and can host anywhere between one and twelve persons, and up to three vehicles, depending on the campsite. Campsite 3 and 4 can be booked in combination to accommodate bigger groups of up to 16 persons.

AREA

Granietkop Campsite is located in the Doro !Nawas Conservancy in the heart of Damaraland, and a mere 20 minutes away from the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Twyfelfontein. The landscape consists of rugged folded hills, plains and wooded river valleys in a largely semi-desert and sparse savannah. Boasting some of the most magnificent views of Namibia's highest mountain, the Brandberg, and the typical cathedral-like granite inselbergs of Damaraland, Granietkop Campsite is within striking distance of other geological attractions such as the Burnt Mountain and Organ Pipes.

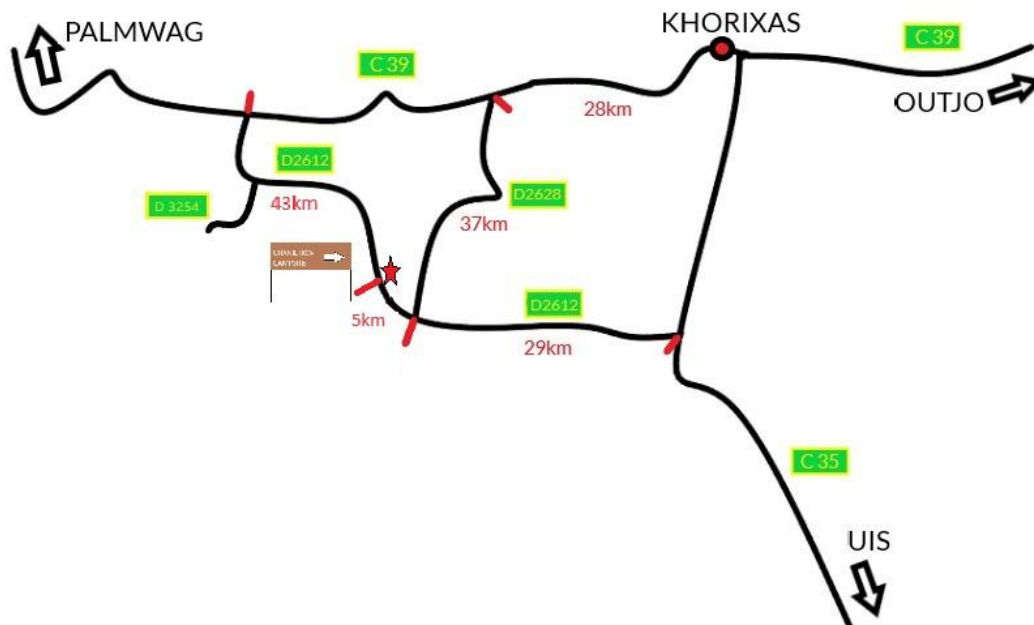

COMMUNITY

Granietkop Campsite is owned by the Doro !Nawas Conservancy, a Namibian gazetted community run organisation which is the custodian of a large tract of land. Ventures such as the Granietkop Campsite, as well as other ventures in the area such as Ultimate Safaris' ONDULI RIDGE and ONDULI ENCLAVE, support the local community significantly in terms of rural development, livelihood creation and ultimately the conservation of the area. Supporting such ventures contributes towards their efforts to achieve this.
